A little bit of our history...

GHS first opened as Trousdale-Allen School in September, 1914. In 1915, the name changed to Central High School before moving in 1932 off of South Water Avenue. Calvin Short Field, dedicated in 2012 to the former Head Football Coach, still entices our students, staff and alumni on Football Fridays each year. We moved from this "annex" to our current location at 700 Dan P. Heron drive in 1974 with the "Freshman wing addition" completed in 1988.

Gallatin High School Expands

When you come back to visit your alma-mater, you will notice a new building in the back of the school. The expansion was finished this year, allowing 23 teachers to have their own classrooms rather than to roam from class to class. This new building eliminated the portable classrooms that once were behind GHS. The new wing houses two new science labs with the latest technology to engage the millennial student body of over 1,400.

In addition to the new wing, GHS now has a state-of-the-art front office. A secure vestibule to the main building of the school greets all visitors who must be "buzzed" in through two separate doors to have access to the school. This secure environment helps put both the student body and staff at ease when it comes to unauthorized persons attempting to enter our hallowed halls.
